-POSITIVE-
By Priscilla Connors

Wireless, wireless, wireless! This is all you hear about in today's world. Have you ever stopped to think about what wireless transmission is doing to our health, and the health of our beautiful planet?

Wireless transmittance is anything that emits a signal - radio, electromagnetic, micro wave, even your electrical outlets wreak havoc on our nervous systems and that of the planet, creating a radiated field. These invisible waves permeate the earth's atmosphere and are changing the natural rhythms of all life on earth.

Look at the earth as if it is a human body. Our bodies have a nervous system, and so does the planet. The earth's natural magnetic grid acts as her nervous system. Wireless transmittance negatively affects the nervous system. The earth's grids are magnetic, the wireless transmittance are drawn to, and are infused into the grid lines, which surround the entire planet.

Positively Clean, a company dedicated to the complete vibrational cleaning and clearing of your property, would like to introduce a product to combat this invisible influence.

POSITITE is a compound that changes negative/dead energy into positive/life supporting energy.

Positite is based on the scientific research of Wilhelm Reich. He discovered orgone energy. This energy is also known as Prana or Chi energy. There are three types of orgone energy; OR (natural), POR (positive), and DOR (dead/negative) orgone energy. DOR is harmful to your health and that of the planet.

Electromagnetic, electric, micro-waves, alternating current, and even radio waves kill orgone energy. Making it DOR. This energy is invisible, yet it is everywhere. It is strongest at its source.

Our modern day life styles depend on this type of technology. Television, computers, cellular phones (and all the towers that come with them) and WiFi. So what can we do about it? Well, unless you are up for completely doing away with these conveniences and live totally off the grid in a remote area some where, then we have to find a way to harmonize these frequencies. Positite is an alternative solution.

POSITITE- What is it??

Positite is a mixture of fiberglass resin, metal shavings, quartz crystal, and various other gems. When put together in a mold, this creates a new element.

Orgone energy is attracted to the Positite by the metal shavings. As the energy passes through the piece it is changed and charged by the energy of the quartz and other gems, bringing it to a different frequency.

The fiberglass resin starts as a liquid. Then a hardener is added and then the metal shavings etc. When the resin solidifies it compresses the quartz and gems making them become polarize or active. (Kind of like a lump of coal when put under pressure, becomes a diamond) This is what is able to transform and transmute the DOR energy to POR, positive life supporting energy.

Positite can be fixed to your computer, cell phone, power cords, outlets. It can be buried in the land to harmonize distortions, and thrown in bodies of water to revitalize the water. Yes, Positite contributes to clearing water.

- The Effects of EMF and Electric Fields-

Our lives are fiercely intertwined with this invisible energy. It has negative effects on our health. Most important, they effect our ability to have deep restful sleep and the rejuvenation that comes with it. According to Oram Miller, a certified building biology environmental inspector with the Environmental Design and Inspection Services in Minneapolis, Minnesota, (www.createhealthyhomes.com) the polarity of alternating current electricity in our homes changes from positive to negative 60 times per second (60 Hz). This causes rapid, powerful alternating attraction and repulsion of each of our bodies trillions of cells. This is especially disturbing to our sleep cycle.

Rapid fluctuations of your bodies cells cause your pineal gland located behind the pituitary gland in the brain to make less Melatonin, a very important hormone that regulates your biological clock, immune system, moods and antioxidants.

The pineal gland usually makes a spike in melatonin at night, but because of the fluctuations of alternating currents flowing throughout your house, this is disturbed. It keeps you from having deep restful "Stage Four Sleep" This has been suppressing sleep for millions of people through out the industrialized world for some 100 years. No wonder we are all sick and tired! Prolonged exposure to these fields can cause depression, restless leg syndrome (a modern day disorder) allergies, insomnia, chronic fatigue, and more all due to the disruption of cellular bio-electric function.

In a recent article in TIME magazine July 5, 2010 "The History Addition" Jill Jonnes Quotes Thomas Edison while talking about A/C (alternating current) in the article "Let there Be Light" Edison says, "High voltage in A/C carried risks. Edison wrote darkly to one of his top executives, "Westinghouse will kill a customer in six months after he puts in a system of any size". He was talking about the alternating current systems that runs through every building in America. Edison knew it wasn't good for the human body. Positite is a positive alternative to combat alternating currents.

Placing Positite on electrical outlets and power cords in your bedroom is most beneficial to combat this type of energy. Eliminating exposure in your sleeping area would be best. Do not use electric blankets. Keep everything plugged into a power cord so you can shut it off before going to sleep.

-Positite and Water-

Positite has very positive effects in water. Water is a conductor. Just as the metal in positite, water draws in that negative DOR energy, killing its life force. You can see it in the clouds. The grey, flat clouds that linger over cell phone towers and cities. This is the personification of DOR energy, and because of the natural water cycle the water travels around the earth.

I have seen amazing results in my space clearing work when positite is added to bodies of water. It for the most part clears it up in a few days. Add your positive intention, and you may get even better results. Given the current situation in our beautiful oceans, clearing bodies of water would be most beneficial for the health of our planet.

Positite is a positive energy generator. It naturalizes electromagnetic frequencies and negative energy. Positite is a positive defense against electromagnetic frequencies and negative thought forms.
